Freedom of Speech Code of Practice

1.0 Introduction

Hereford College of Arts [The College] is committed to safeguarding freedom of expression and freedom of speech and the principle of academic freedom which allows for open and honest debate in an academic context. The College promotes a positive and inclusive environment and values the rights of individuals to have freedom within the law to express ideas and views even if they are controversial, provocative or unpopular in nature.

- 1.1 The College has a statutory duty under section 43(1) of the Education (No 2) Act 1986 to take “such steps as are reasonably practicable to ensure that freedom of speech within the law is secured for members, students and employees of the establishment and for visiting speakers.”
- 1.2 The College is further required under section 43(3) of the Education (No 2) Act 1986 to keep an up-to-date Code of Practice setting out,
  - a) the procedures to be followed by members, students and employees of the College in relation to meetings and activities which are to take place on the premises; and
  - b) the conduct required of such people in connection with those events.
- 1.3 This Code of Practice should be read in conjunction with the External Speakers Procedure and the Guidelines for External Speakers.
- 1.4 In promoting freedom of speech the College has regard to the Human Rights Act 1998 and Article 10 of the European Convention of Human Rights which protects the right to freedom of expression.
- 1.5 The college notes the updated guidelines for Higher Education published in February 2021 and agrees to actively promotes free speech and academic freedom as being central parts of a high quality higher education. - 1.6 The College is committed to upholding its duties under the Equality Act 2010.
- 1.7 The College recognises its duty under section 26(1) of the Counter Terrorism and Security Act 2015 to have due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism. The College will not permit its premises or resources to be used to promote or support extremism.

2.0 Scope

- 2.1 This Code of Practice applies to all College meetings and to all staff, students, Governors, external speakers and visitors to the College.
- 2.2 For the purposes of this Code of Practice a 'meeting' is any organised gathering of people or other similar event, including any performance, which takes place on College premises, or an event or performance which takes place off-campus but remains under the control of the College. It includes meetings organised by any external venue hire client who is paying to use College facilities.
- 2.3 This Code of Practice applies to meetings or events in which individuals participate by way of remote access, live streaming, audio conferencing, social media or other similar means.
- 2.4 The Students' Union must comply with this Code of Practice and the procedures relating to external speakers in respect of meetings and events taking place on College premises.
- 2.5 External speakers are individuals, who are not staff or student members of the College or one of its contracted partners, who have been invited to speak to students and/or staff on College premises (or at an event hosted by the College on other premises) at any meeting, event, presentation, visit, activity or initiative organised by a student group or society, individual or staff member. External speakers will include students or members of staff from another educational institution and the main contact person from any external venue hire client who is paying to use College facilities. External speakers will also include groups or organisations presenting or performing to students, such as theatre and music groups.
- 2.6 The College may consider taking disciplinary action and, if necessary, contact a relevant external agency in the event of an alleged breach of the Code of Practice and/or a breach of the law.
- 2.7 In seeking to ensure, as far as is reasonably practicable, that freedom of speech within the law is secured for the College's members, students, employees and visiting speakers in accordance with section 43 of the Education (No 2) Act 1986 the College expects everyone to whom this Code applies to observe its principles at all times whilst on College premises and whilst representing Hereford College of Arts.

3.0 Principles

- 3.1 Freedom of speech is a fundamental right and Hereford College of Arts is committed to ensuring that freedom of expression within the law is encouraged in a safe and tolerant environment.
- 3.2 The College will ensure that as far as is reasonably practicable, the use of its premises is not denied to any individual or organisation on any ground connected with:

- (1) the beliefs or views of that individual or of any member of that organisation or
  - (2) the policy or objectives of that organisation
- 3.3 The College recognises that whilst freedom of speech is protected by law there are occasions when speech can be limited if it would amount to a breach of the law.
- 3.4 The College expects that external speakers and attendees at meetings will act within the law. Unacceptable conduct will include but is not limited to:
  - (1) A breach of criminal law.
  - (2) Using words or behaviour with intent to provoke or cause fear of violence.
  - (3) Engaging in acts intended or likely to stir up hatred on grounds of race, religion or sexual orientation.
  - (4) Encouraging or promoting any acts of terrorism.
  - (5) Defamation.
  - (6) Discrimination or harassment of any individual or group on the grounds of their sex, sexual orientation, race, ethnicity, nationality, religious or similar belief, disability or age.
- 3.5 The College will not permit an event to take place on its premises if it reasonably believes that it is likely to result in:
  - (1) Any conduct or breach of the law specified in paragraph 3.4
  - (2) A risk to health and safety
  - (3) A risk to security
- 3.6 The College reserves the right to monitor and impose conditions or restrictions upon any event on its premises and to close an event and ask people to leave the premises if necessary.
- 3.7 The College recognises that actively encouraging free speech does affect the legal requirements that Higher Education providers must comply with and that free speech and academic freedom may, in certain specific contexts, be limited by law, nor does it replace any relevant existing statutory guidance on, for example, the Prevent Duty.

4.0 Procedures

- 4.1 Formal approval must be obtained from the College before an external speaker is booked to attend an event.
- 4.2 The procedure to be followed in relation to the use of external speakers is set out in the External Speaker Procedure which forms part of this Code of Practice.
